Color Marilyn Make Her MerryBy thirdtwinGood for practicing your skin tones for your own art projects even if you're not a fan; since there is black ink filled in on many spots you will have to color over it with a light base coat that completely covers the black ink before you can make all your own color choices- an irritation but it is possible to do if you use the right medium or if you use many layers of colored pencil. So in general colored pencils work best on this for the parts not filled in with black ink- for those you'll probably want to do a white under coat in pen or marker then use compatible pencils over top of that if you have the time and interest. If you layer over the black ink you can color the lips red or ink instead of black- for example- but you have to use and undercoat to obscure the black ink that comes pre-printed first. It's a little time consuming but it does work and it's good practice for your own projects. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Nice book, poor quality

By Shoosmum
The paper is a poor quality printer type, and only suitable for colored pencils. Also the artist decided to make all her lips black. This leaves no room for using corals, pinks, or reds. I feel this was a very poor decision on his part. The pictures appear to be copies of photographs, which is no problem. I am just not happy with the quality of the book for the price. I would like to add that I just colored two of the pictures in this book. The drawings are excellent, and there are a great variety of pictures. I am finding that the less expensive colored pencils work very well on this paper. Ex. Crayola, Prang, Rose Art etc. Prisma colored pencils seem to grab and do not go as smoothly as I would like. Experiment and have fun. (note: I have gone over the "black" lips with a white Sakura gel pen, and cannot color her lips any color I choose.)

I always like to color models and this book has nice dolls of Marilyn. Although they are not exactly like her they resemble a lot. I use color pencil. Well this book will provide with hours of entertainment.

Marilyn Monroe captured everyone's heart in the 1950s with her unforgettable performances, charismatic personality, and well-known signature look. This unique coloring book features classic line drawings of Marilyn in all her glory, both onscreen and off. Captioned images of Hollywood's most favorite Golden Girl include film premieres, posing with friends and former beaux, singing Happy Birthday to President Kennedy, and countless publicity poses and famous film scenes. Artists, fans, film buffs, and collectors alike can use a splash of color in any medium to bring a timeless Marilyn back to life within this book's pages. The first of its kind, this volume will instantly become a memorable keepsake for Marilyn enthusiasts.
