Evan J. Kern : Creating New England Villages (Small Town America) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Creating New England Villages (Small Town America):

36 color photos 3 b/w photos 38 drawings 8 x 11. Miniature replicas of historic landmarks. Special coloring techniques for creating remarkable detail Create charming and historically accurate miniature buildings from New England's past. Easy instructions explain every step in the process--from cutting and gluing to coloring and finishing. Projects include a sugarhouse, covered bridge, Cape Cod house, meetinghouse, church, saltbox house, octagon, lighthouse, and gristmill. An overview of each building's location, date of construction, style, and significance adds historical interest. Evan J. Kern, author of Creating Wooden Villages and Making Wooden Jigsaw Puzzles (see page 81), was dean of the College of Visual and Performing Arts at Kutztown University. He lives in Kutztown, Pennsylvania.
