I was replacing a much used version that I had had for many years. As a teacher, this was my "go to" book for great ideas to create things out of paper. Sometimes I needed to make items to complete a costume, a prop, or an item for scenery in a special program. Many student art project ideas came from this wonderful book. It was written many years ago by an art professor at the University of Washington. I am retired now, but it remains on my shelf for that "just in case" idea that I might need help with. I have a creative mind, but lack the artistic ability to create from scratch. Enjoy!
