Martin Cheek : Design Sourcebook Mosaics before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Design Sourcebook Mosaics:

This text presents a portfolio of contemporary mosaic designs from which people making their own mosaic, or commissioning from professional artists, can take their inspiration. Nearly 200 designs from over 40 different mosaic artists are featured in this text which is written for both amateur and professional mosaic artists. This text also features design ideas with broader general appeal - to interior decorators, fabric and print designers, architects and those interested in mosaics or learning more about contemporary work.

About the Author Martin Cheek is one of the leading mosaic artists at work today with numerous successful exhibitions, television and radio appearances and one-man shows to his credit. He runs popular mosaic courses teaching amateurs the art of mosaic and is the author of the international best-seller, Mosaics in a Weekend, also published by New Holland.
