Brenda Gerace, Chuck Michels : Elvis: Cross Stitch Pattern from Brenda's Craft Shop (Cross Stiche Patterns from Brenda's Craft Shop) (Volume 5) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Elvis: Cross Stitch Pattern from Brenda's Craft Shop (Cross Stiche Patterns from Brenda's Craft Shop) (Volume 5):

This cross stitch pattern is part of the series "Cross Stitch Patterns from Brenda's Craft Shop". This pattern measures 240 stitches wide by 205 stitches high and uses the DMC suite color pallet. This beautiful landscape portrait of the King of Rock-n-Roll will light up the life of any Elvis fan. Included in this book are basic cross stitch instructions, money saving tips, a color table on a separate page (so it can easily be photocopied and take with you to purchase the threads needed) and a image with a graph overlay illustrating how each page of the book corresponds to the pattern. When finished this great design will bring years of enjoyment and pleasure to you and your family for years.

About the Author Brenda Gerace has been working with cross stitch and plastic canvas for decades now and has a vast collection of patterns and magazines on needlecraft. She has created hundreds of items for herself, her family and friends. Many of those family and friends are scattered all throughout the United States. Chuck Michels has a past that includes various crafts but most of his experience is in the business management and computer fields. They met in early 2007 and began a relationship filled with love, caring and crafting together. While organizing the hundreds of books and magazines Brenda had accumulated over the years they noticed some of Brenda's patterns were damaged or pages were misplaced and a need was created for them to make replacements for these patterns. While replacing these old patterns they found other new images they thought would make great cross stitch designs and created patterns for them as well. Going through these older patterns and magazines they found several plastic canvas patterns for banks, calendars and various other items that she had not used for several years. Brenda began working on making a Buffalo Bills Forever Calendar for a friend and banks out of plastic canvas for her twelve grandchildren. Many of her friends and family wanted to see pictures of these items but it became a pain to constantly attach pictures to text messages on her cell phone, so we created the Facebook group Brenda's Craft Shop. After posting pictures on the site she began to get flooded with orders for various plastic canvas calendars and banks. Brenda now works almost exclusively on plastic canvas and the large collection of cross stitch patterns they created are going unused. Chuck was already researching the possibility of writing and self publishing a book. Instead of letting this collection of cross stitch patterns, and all the time and hard work they put into them, go to waste they decided to publish the patterns and share them with crafty people like you.
